

Board Nomination Policy

Approved by the Board of Trustees 14th of December 2020

1. Number and Composition of Trustees

- 1.1. There will be five board members from each block. Block 1 are public buyers that are affiliates to Electronics Watch; Block 2 are experts in human rights, labour rights, trade union rights, environmental rights, occupational health & safety, and global supply chains; Block 3 are representatives of free, independent and democratic trade unions as well as other types of independent civil society organisations that represent workers or advocate for worker rights and are located in the regions of production of electronics or other categories of public expenditure. Fifteen (15) will be the maximum number of board members.
- 1.2. Organisations represented on Block 1, 2 or 3 of the Advisory Group are eligible to vote. Each organisation gets one vote, except that consortia in Block 1 get a maximum of five votes. Block 2 includes individuals who do not represent an organisation. Each Block 2 member gets one vote.
- 1.3. At least 50% of representatives of Block 3 should be from Asia (in case of 5 representatives this means 3 out of 5). In case more than 50% of top vote getters for Block 3 are from locations outside Asia, the nominations committee should eliminate the lowest vote getter(s) from a non-Asian country and select instead the highest vote getter(s) from Asia.
- 1.4. At least one of the representatives of Block 3 should represent a high-risk mining region. Electronics Watch will seek to meet this criterium through recruitment of qualified representatives.
- 1.5. Block 2 and Block 3 of the Board must include geographically diverse trade unionists in elected or employed positions.
- 1.6. The Board as a whole and each block should have geographic diversity. No more than 50% of representatives of any block should be from a single country (in case of 5 representatives, no more than 2 out of 5). In case more than 50% of the top qualified vote getters for a block come from the same country, the nominations committee should eliminate the lowest vote getter(s) from that country and select instead the highest vote getter(s) from another country to ensure geographic diversity.
- 1.7. The Board as a whole and each block represented on the Board should have gender parity. At least 50% of representatives of each block and the board as a whole should be women. In case more than 50% of the top vote getters for a block or the Board as a whole are men, the nominations committee should eliminate the lowest male vote getter(s) and select instead the highest female vote getter(s) to ensure gender parity. The Board will also strive to have representation of people who identify as non-binary people.

- 1.8. In case there is a tie between vote getters, the nomination committee will seek to break the tie in favour of a qualified nominee who increases geographic and gender diversity on the board, or who ensures representation of a new sector—such as mining—or adequate representation from Asia in Block 3.
- 1.9. Electronics Watch will seek to recruit enough qualified nominees to ensure there are always enough nominees to meet the organisation's diversity objectives, including ethnic, racial, gender, and geographic diversity.

2. Nominations Procedure

- 2.1. Nominations must include a motivational statement of up to 500 words. The statement should include the nominee's relevant experience, explain what they can contribute to the organisation, and why they are qualified to serve. Nominations should not include additional information, such as CVs or links to online profiles. No additional information will be provided to the members of the advisory groups who cast the votes. If a motivational statement does not adequately explain a nominee's experience, the nomination committee may request clarification. If no clarification is submitted, the nominations committee may reject the nomination.
- 2.2. There should only be one nomination for one person. If there is more than one nomination submitted for a person, the nominee must choose only one of them.
- 2.3. Nominees can nominate and vote for themselves.
- 2.4. Voting will take place through an online voting platform to guarantee anonymity of voters.
- 2.5. The nominations schedule is:

Second Monday of March: call for nominations to each advisory group.

Second Monday of April: nominations are due.
